COAL MINERS ASK FOR ALL YEAR WORK

Work all year round was added to the demands of the anthracite miners at a conference in the Union League Club yesterday of the sub-committees of operators and miners appointed to regotiate a new wage agreement. Representatives of the hard coal diggers contended the 68 per cent increase in wases asked is absolutely necessary and dis-played the budgets of miners families to show the amount demanded would just about meet the advanced cost of

The operators' representatives argued that the authracite industry offers an opportunity for steady employment. The minera refused to accept this statement, declaring that "the present stendy em-ployment" is due largely to the abnor-Two women were hadly beaten and mai conditions growing out of the war. It was contended by the union contuit tee that the anthracite miner is usually idle during the summer months.

No reference was made at the conter-erice to a cessation of work on April 1, when the old wage agreement runs out. If an agreement is not reached by then the miners insist the wage increase shall be made retroactive to that date. This plan is opposed by the operators.
